RECENT SALES CANCELLED

Hi Folks,

Well unfortunately someone has recently anonymously complained to the Real Estate Board about my posting of sales here monthly. I know lots of people in the neighbourhood are interested in the latest market activity so I've always been happy to post the info here for your convenience without requiring you to sign up or provide any personal information.

I can't do that anymore, however if anybody is still interested in getting the recent monthly sales I am permitted to send the info out directly to people with whom I am in contact. So if you do want to continue receiving the monthly sales please email me and I will begin sending out the sales each month and you'll still be able to access the info. I promise not to contact you or to share your email addresses. If you ever decide to buy or sell I would really appreciate if you would consider using my services, but I promise never to contact you via the contact info you provide me.

Sorry for the disruption but it is out of my control.

My email address is walter@walterwells.ca.

Yours,

Walter
